Wreck Diving

The Gulf of California, more romantically known as The Sea of Cortez, is one of the most biologically diverse marine systems in the world. The abundant sunlight, prolific plankton, cool water, and deep upwelling make this an ocean oasis for marine life and the perfect place to discover the oceans as they were meant to be seen!

There are over 900 species of fish and over 5,000 macro invertebrates to see here, as well as 1/3 of the world's marine mammals.

Scientists, divers, students, and adventurers come here to see why Jacques Cousteau called the Sea of Cortez the World's Aquarium.

You can dive almost any day of the year, but there are prime diving times. Best time to dive in La Paz for water temp, clarity, and maximum species to encounter. Mid-July – August, and Late September – November with water temps between 75 degrees and low 80s

Diver - Double Occupancy $1,898
Non-Diver - Double Occupancy $1,438
Single Supplement additional $513
non-Diver - no activities $713

Air is not included!

Night Scuba Diving Certification, Wednesday, July 26th 6:00pm, Golden Acres, Square Lake.

Do you think you've seen all there is to see at your local dive spots? Try checking them out at night. You're going to find that dive sites don't really show you night everything they have until you explore them when the sun goes down.

Prerequisites: Minimum age 12 yrs old, Open Water Certified

Objectives: You'll learn night dive planning, organization, procedures, techniques, light failure drills, night navigation and potential problems. You'll also learn how to control your buoyancy, navigate and communicate at night. Since many of the plants and animals you'll see are different, you'll also get an introduction to nocturnal aquatic life.

Tuition Includes:

Three night dives with PADI professionals
PADI study materials (book & video)
PADI Night Diver Certification Card
Scuba Rentals (including lights)

Cost: $125

Adaptive (Disability) Diving

Handicap Scuba Association

Disabled Diver Certification (July 7-9)

We are having our 1st Disability Scuba Certification Class—do you know someone who is disabled have them contact us for more information.

Instructor-student ratio 1 on 1: Cost $500

Training programs for people with disabilities have a high margin of safety and patience. We use teaching techniques developed from more than 30 years of continuous research and feedback. Disabled students are trained and certified according to HSA Physical Performance Requirements and Multilevel Certification system.

Based on the student's ability to successfully challenge the HSA Physical Performance Requirements, the HSA developed the Multilevel Certification. This is a performance-based method of assessing and accommodating the disabled diver's specialized needs.

Level A: The student has successfully challenged all of the HSA Physical Performance Requirements, demonstrating that he or she can safely SCUBA dive, solve basic personal emergencies, help another diver in distress, and perform basic rescues. They have shown, by successfully challenging these Performance Requirements, that they can perform the skills required to be an effective Buddy and are certified to dive with one other certified SCUBA diver.

Level B: The student has successfully challenged those HSA Physical Performance Requirements that demonstrate their ability to safely SCUBA dive, and to solve basic emergencies. However, they are unable to successfully challenge those Performance Requirements that demonstrate their ability to help another diver in distress. Therefore, the LEVEL B diver is certified to SCUBA dive with two dive buddies who are certified Open Water Level A or above. In the case of an emergency, this system will provide an effective dive buddy for all members of the dive team. Able to perform all scuba skills with minor assistance.

Level C: The student has successfully challenged those HSA Physical Performance Requirements that demonstrate their ability to safely SCUBA dive. However, they are unable to successfully challenge those Performance Requirements that demonstrate their ability to independently solve basic personal emergencies, or to execute basic scuba skills, such as swimming underwater, and operating their Buoyancy Control Device to descend. The skills that must be performed for them, such as operating their BCD to descend, require the Assisting Buddy to have professional skills. They are certified to dive with two dive buddies, one certified Level A or above, and an HSA Dive Buddy or, at a minimum, certified Rescue Diver. Able to perform all scuba skills with major assistance.
